

(I'm) Just Being Myself

Dionne Warwick

I'm just being, being myself
I'm just being, being me
And I can't be nobody but me
I'm just being, being myself
Don't try to make me somebody else
'Cause I gotta be myself

I get the feeling
You're holding on to memories you can't erase
Now don't try to use me
To replace the dreams that have left a trace
Now what I'm saying
May not be what you really want me to say
And what you're hearing
May not be what you really want to hear

Look at me as a new beginning
I won't be a part of an old ending
No, no no no, not me

I'm just being, being myself
I'm just being, being me
And I can't be nobody but me
I'm just being, being myself
Don't try to make me somebody else
'Cause I gotta be myself

Don't try to change me
To [?] you're used to be
Don't look for her in me
'Cause somebody else I'll never be

Now what you're hearing
May not be what you really want to hear
And what I'm saying
May not be what you really want me to say
But I refuse to camouflage myself
'Cause you need me to be somebody else

No, no no, not me

I'm just being, being myself
I'm just being, being me
And I can't be nobody but me
I'm just being, being myself
Don't try to make me somebody else
'Cause I gotta be myself

I'm just being, being myself...