Bring Me Flowers

Diorama

Bring me flowers in the night Lay your cheek down by my side Leave my lovers full of need And my brothers full of greed

Hush now slowly come inside Feel your neck glow it's alright See me sunk here in too deep Bring me flowers when I sleep

Caressing hands warm like the sun I feel your breath inside my lungs Smile peacefully and take
My hands on your face I won't awake

Are you here for a final goodbye? Did your soul fall or fly? Love disguising fluid within Your warm teardrops on my skin All my lovers disappeared

And the others were never here

I drank the ashes of desire Brought about and lost it all Gloomy chamber fading light Bring me flowers in the night

In every move is regret
In every glance is hunger
Flying hawk creeping snake
You're closer (to each other) than you think
Pale and shining hidden and revealed
Plain words with strangling hands on the neck
No more true words how to find
How to cure what is cherished
No more words

All your mercy is not melting with mine Did your soul fall or fly
