

One More Time

Disciple

Another night I sat alone
Another night I my heart is so heavy
I can't believe that it's beating on it's own
I know You tell to be glad when trials come to me but instead
I always question if You love me at all

But I know You know me Jesus
I know You listen to my cry
I need You to come inside
And I will praise and give You thanks
For You have lifted me to carry me one more time
I will praise You and give You thanks
For You have lifted me to make me see
My life is in Your hands

Seems like the ones I love the most when I am needing their affection
They're never there and I'm left all alone
I know You tell me to be glad
when trials come to me but instead
I always question if You love me at all
But I know You know me Jesus
I know You hear this prodigal's cry
Father run to me tonight