

The Right Time

Disciple

My ship is going down tonight
And the waves are drowning out all the life
And I'm pretty sure there's no way I will make it out

Then just at the right time God comes crashing in
Just at the right time I'm saved by His hand
Just when I thought all hope was lost and this would be the end

There was God just at the right time

The sun is swallowed by the clouds
And the darkness closes in on all around
And I'm pretty sure that there's no way
But He'll make a way somehow

Then just at the right time God comes crashing in
Just when I thought all hope was lost and this would be the end

There was God just at the right time

My God will make a way even when it seems that there's no way
With God it's never too late
With God it's never too late

Then just at the right time God comes crashing in
Just when I thought all hope was lost and this would be the end

There was God just at the right time
