

When Trees Would Dance

Diva Destruction

No matter where we run to
No matter where we hide,
You know it's never gonna be like this again
I remember when we ran away,
I remember how the trees would dance
And the mornings always glowed insanely red

Taste our rainbow
Can't go back to black and white
Taste this rainbow,
can't accept the black and white

They all saw a price too high,
Everyone just said we're sick, but they could never hope to feel our world
We chased each other forever,
We lived each other's pain, cause when it's real it never ever dies

Taste our rainbow
Can't go back to black and white
Taste this rainbow,
can't accept the black and white

Come see it come feel our world, it was all
