

Another Day

Divided By Friday

I watch every day as they slowly fade
Another day another mistake I've made
Another day I couldn't hold your hand
Another day that I was just another friend

I dream of something more than this
I dream of a code that for once I won't miss
But I know this is too good to be true
I know that I should stop dreaming of you

Cause you're always on my mind
You're all I think of all the time
You're everything
I've done everything I know to do
I guess you're just a dream that won't come true

As time moves on so do I
I guess you can't lose if you simply don't try
They say that winners never lose
They say that losers never win
I never thought I'd feel this way for you

And I am falling for mine
You're the answer I'll never find
I said I'll wait forever and I didn't lie
But I still have to know why

You're always on my mind
You're all I think of all the time
You're everything
I've done everything I know to do
I guess you're just a dream that won't come true

You're the answers to my prayers
I have no worries left no cares
You're everything

And could it be that you feel the same way I feel for you
And could it be that my dream is finally coming true

You're always on my mind
You're all I think of all the time
You're everything
I've done everything I know to do
I guess you're just a dream that won't come true