

Make Out All Right

Divinyls

Now that you've started something
How can you see it through
Caught up and calling, falling through
Taken a certain something
That's fallen from our lives
Boy I can see it in your eyes

Do you know where you're going Do you know where you go
There's no way of knowing If you let him go
If there's soul where you going
If there's soul let it show
I know where you go
You're gonna make out all right
Or break out all right
All that you wanted baby Is right in front of you
Is my message getting through to you yeah, yeah
True communication Is always hard to find
When you've left your words behind
Do you know where you're going Do you know where you go
There's no way of knowing If you let him go
If there's soul where you're going If there's soul let it roll
I know where you go You're gonna make out all right Or break out all right

Make out all right, make out all right Make out all right, make out all right

Do you know where you're going Do you know where you go
There's no way of knowing If you let him go
If there's soul where you're going If there's soul let it roll
I know where you go You're gonna make out all right
Or break out all right

Make out all right, make out all right Make out all right, make out all right
Make it in the morning Make out all night
Make it, make it, make it Make out all right
Make out all right Make out all right