I will rise again
I will rise again

I've been taught, in the name of life What a thrill, like a steely knife It hit my face, see it left without a trace

Life's been short, in the name of love Paid my bills just to rise above secret hills

There's been awful pain all through this race I made it to a peaceful place, I know I will make it again

To see my consciousness is bright and clear Standing tall and have no fear at all To see me standing tall and have no fear at all

I will rise again
I will rise again

Take away my pride, I will rise again Though it seems so hard, I know You will see me again

Seasons come and go, I will rise again Deep inside I know I'll be back again

Take away my pride, I will rise again Though it seems so hard, I know You will see me again

Seasons come and go, I will rise again Deep inside I know I'll be back again

I will rise again

Take away my pride, I will rise again Though it seems so hard, I know You will see me again

Seasons come and go, I will rise again Deep inside I know I'll be back again
