

Burial Ground

Dog Is Dead

Lending your love to the usual strangers
Will I be acting my age
I'd try to help if I could make things better
Time's slipping away

Now you're back to the start
Now you're back where we came from
And we all fell apart
When we heard that you changed

Run run run from the burial ground
To your best friend's house 'cause he's still alive
Take take take yeah take it all back
But you have to admit you could have handled things better

You're doing your best
But you're all too clever
Take a fall on me
I'm careless but blessed for the first time ever
Taking time to heal

Now you're back to the start
Now you're back where we came from
Now a change in the heart
Can be oh, such a strange thing

Run run run from the burial ground
To your best friend's house 'cause he's still alive
Take take take yeah take it all back
But you have to admit you could have handled things better

Run run run from the burial ground
To your best friend's house 'cause he's still alive
Take take take yeah take it all back
But you have to admit you could have handled things better

Run run run from the burial ground
To your best friend's house 'cause he's still alive
Take take take yeah take it all back
But you have to admit you could have handled things better
