I'm a Drifter

Dolly Parton

I'm a drifter, a driftin' drifter Got no place to call my home no more I'm a wanderer, a wandering wanderer Got no one to call my own no more

Got no strings to tie me down

Got no cause to hang around

What difference does it make which way I go

Got an empty feelin' down inside

Still I need to stay alive

And who can tell what waits beyond this road

I'm a drifter, a driftin' drifter

Got no one to call my own no more

Got no strings to tie me down
Got no cause to hang around
What difference does it make which way I go
Got an empty feelin' deep inside
Still I need to stay alive
Who can tell what waits beyond this road
I'm a drifter, a driftin' drifter
Got no one to call my own no more

Got no place to call my home no more