

Same Old Fool

Dolly Parton

There I was the girl that you love to hate but hate to love alone I guess you might say yes I was and there you were giving me love enough for any girl to understand this girl couldn't see

I was the same old fool but in any fantasy same old fool with the same old dream still the same old me show me have life can be now the same old fool has got a brand new dream

One more chance is all that I ever need 'cause you gave to me a shred of hope more than most receive and here I am now that I finally, finally, finally found what real love means this brand new dream won't end

I was the same old fool but in any fantasy same old fool with the same old dream still the same old me show me have life can be
now the same old fool has got a brand new dream

same old dream still the same old me show me have life can be
now the same old fool has got a brand new dream
