

You Set Me On Fire

Dolores O'Riordan

I don't understand the touch of your hand
To where we should go
I really don't know
I'm broken inside
and I've got nowhere to hide You've taken my eyes and I can't disguise

You set me on fire
You set me on fire
You set me on fire
You did, you did, you did
Unspoken desire
Unspoken desire
You set me on fire
You did, you did, you did

So hold my hand
You must understand
I'm poking inside
and I've got nowhere to hide
I'm not having fun
I think I should run

You set me on fire
You set me on fire
You set me on fire
You did, you did, you did
Unspoken desire
Unspoken desire
You set me on fire
You did, you did, you did

I thought I was much stronger than I am I thought I was
much stronger than I am

You set me on fire
You set me on fire
Unspoken desire
You did, you did, you did

You set me on fire
You set me on fire
You set me on fire
You did, you did, you did

Why did I opened up to you
when I was alone
I want you to know
Why did I opened up to you
when I was alone

I think that you took advantage of me

I think that you took
advantage of me