

The Ship Of The Lost Souls

Domine

Your faith is gone, all hopes are lost
Now all your dreams lie broken on the ground
Now no more fears, you've cried out all your tears and the days pass before your eyes

You are the one who decided to go
You are the one who decided to sail
Forever on the Ship of the Lost Souls

From the Shores of Death a ship will come Born of Chaos, born of Ancient Night
Forever to sail, to reek havoc and destruction
Never to be pacified, forever to fight

Fate has turned a man of peace into a warrior thus taking his own life
Your body may have been your own but your soul belongs to them
Your blood mixing with the water

You are the one who decided to go
You are the one who decided to sail
Forever on the Ship of the Lost Souls

Don't hope for mercy
For them there is no tragedy in Death

Staring at Death with bone dry eyes
Your fallen prey floating on the water
Until the rain will come down to purify the evil you left behind

You are the one who decided to go
You are the one who decided to sail
Forever on the Ship of the Lost Souls