Do You Think

Don Gibson

Do you think the raindrops will ever stop falling? Do you think the stars will grow dim? Do you think my teardrops will ever stop flowing Till I want your love back again?

I was a fool when I played with your heart And brought you the shame that has torn us apart Do you think I'll ever get over the sorrow For being the fool that I've been

I was a fool when I played with your heart And brought you the shame that has torn us apart Do you think I'll ever get over the sorrow For being the fool that I've been
