For My Wedding

Don Henley

For my weddin' I will dress in black Never again will I look back All my dark angels we must part For I have made a sanctuary of my heart

To want what I have to take what I'm given with grace For this I pray on my wedding day.

For my wedding I don't want violins
Or sentimental songs about thick and thin
I want a moment of silence and a moment of prayer
For the love we'll need to make it in the world out there

To want what I have to take what I'm given with grace For this I pray on my wedding day

On my wedding day

Well I dream and my dreams are all blowin light That's what I wanted for my life And if it hasn't always been that way Well I can dream and I can pray On my wedding day

So what makes us any different from all the others Who have tried and failed before us Maybe nothin, maybe nothin at all But I pray we're the lucky ones I pray we'll never fall

To want what we have to take what we're given with grace For these things I pray on my wedding day

On my wedding day
