

Obsession

Donna Lewis

you get what you deserve I've seen it all before you're crashing

you think you're beautiful and god is in your soul you're really something so I lay down under the orange sky breathing in the darkness while you stay up all night searching for a reason to get out there

just one more obsession
just one more attraction

you want to save the world save it save it save it only on a sunday you only give what you give thinking it'll come back to you one day
