

All You Ever Wanted

Donots

You're on your own now
So rise to the occasion
You're growing old now
And you know that time won't wait
You're twice the price now
It's a no-win situation
You sell yourself out
With every war you wage
You're all you ever wanted
You're too much for yourself
Don't let anybody in
Before you fit in your own skin
I'm on the outside looking in
I miss the way you're never been
You're all you ever wanted
I'm on the outside looking in
And you are better off
Without you
Without you
You're on the road now
But you got no destination
Pick up the phone now
Let me know that you'll be late
You think you know now
But you lack the education
Pick up the phone now
Just admit you can't relate
You're all you ever wanted
You're all I ever wanted
