

They come crawling tome everytime that i feel safe those thoughts that remind me of weakness it's amiracle ive never drowned in the waves of mediocrity since my lifes a mess whos to bear the responsibilities in this time?
who am i to judge on what's bad and fine whos gonna tell me what to do,think,say?
who am i anyway
so give me the shoes that walk into the right direction!
give me the head that keeps me from distraction!
give me(thanks!)the words that lead to interaction!
help me out, i need an connexion! indepence aint biss, to me it's a threat I'd rather be living within chocking bounds freedom of choice is a state that drives me mad so make my choices and leave me tied to the ground but please don't leave me to my own devices you know my my helplessness is one of my vices take control and pull the leash, ma friend clench my life
it's slipping through my hands...
(very grave and spookyen?! anyway, it's sad to see how many people lack the initiative when it comes to making important decisions and how that affects their environment