

Out Of Line A blank sheet reads a million ways You need an alibi, i rest my case There is something going wrong, going wrong I add insult to injury With every single word that i don't speak And there is something going wrong, deadly wrong When two lives are less than one And you're breaking As i cave in And you get stuck in a rut And you miss me When i ain't me And i slam the door shut Solitary together Disconnected forever Your words are matches, can't you see That my head is full of kerosene? It's been this way for much too long, far too long It's getting time that we moved on And you're breaking As i cave in And you get stuck in a rut And you need me When i ain't me And i slam the door shut Solitary together Disconnected forever Same story, different day Fall apart, waste away We're in harm's way, fading away Same old story, different day Fall apart and waste away We're in harm's way, fading away We're in harm's way once again And you're breaking As i cave in And you get stuck in a rut And you hate me When i ain't me And i slam the door shut Solitary together And we're breaking As we cave in Did we get stuck in a rut? And you're fading And i'm aching Did we slam the door shut? Solitary together We disconnect forever Solitary, solitary together...
