

Someone To Blame

Donots

You were so quick to say good-bye
So tell me did you even try?
You burned a hole in my disguise
And left a scar larger than life
I guess, weçfe victims of a circumstance
So please conceal the evidence
If we should need someone to blame
Letçf just make up some funny names
For someone to blame
Cançf we pretend this ainçf the end?
Until we break weçfe got the truth to bend
Letçf leave the details all behind
My dear, you know I wouldnçf mind
I guess, weçfe victims of a circumstance
So please conceal the evidence (cause you know)
If we should need someone to blame
Letçf just make up some funny names
Itçf alright to wash our doubts away
If we may spend another day
Got someone to blame
