

The Story So Far

Donots

we try to remember the better days when we find our outlines painted thin recently it's been getting harder since we do not know where to begin spring No.21
will we ever see a brighter one?
a yearbook full of hopes and a lifetime to understand their jokes where will we be tomorrow ?
where are we today'
so many people talk about tomorrow when they havent even finished yesterday let's make this moment eternity and cast our fears and duties away moments are so strong when we're beyond the shades of right and wrong to inhale the fresh air of relief and to overcome the grief this is
the story so far
make sure you send me a postcard
(the story so far)
when you get to the point where real life starts (i wanna know what it's like) so far we're untitled chapter 21
and waiting for the things to come