Love Will Find a Way

Donovan

You may train the eagle To stoop down to your fist Feed him cheese and bagels And send him to the east

The dragon beast, he may move her To give over her prey But you'll never stop a lover He will find a way

Russia may teach her children To suppress and subdue Philosophize their freedom And keep from them what is true

Shake a hammer and your sickle The individual to slay But you'll never stop a lover He will find a way

You both dream an empire
Of planets up on high
Searching for the God power
With stardust in your eye

The milky moon, he may wander From golden night to silver day But you'll never stop a lover He will find a way