

Thank You Baby

Dottie West

Thank you baby for teaching me the world is really round
There's more to it than my two eyes can see
Thank you baby for showing me that black is sometimes grey
And the alphabet is more than ABC
Thanks for explaining that there are things the best left unexplained
But thanks for tryin' hard to answer all my questions just the same
Thanks for thinking that much of me
But most of all baby thanks for tryin' so hard to love me

Thank you baby for never promising thanks you couldn't give
For never lie just make yourself look good
Thank you baby for never pushing me down the path I shouldn't go
And with all my fate and trust you know you could
Thanks for opening my eyes things I couldn't know
Wrapped in my, for I had all those seeds to grow
Thanks for thinking that much of me
But most of all baby thanks for tryin' so hard to love me
Thank you baby I wanna thank you baby
