

Burning heart

Down By Law

Every now & then I feel this place is going down
I'll catch the next train into town
There's romance on the streets tonight
& every lonely hearts alright
And I think that I could find my way if I could find my way to you
So many pathways I have roamed
Will I ever feel at home?
So many streets for a burning heart
But fewer roads to get a brand new start
I think that I could find my way if I could find my way to you
I'm looking forward to not looking back
Trying to find a way to get on track
Sitting in this room all by myself
Oh lonely boy - what you gonna do?
Every now & then I feel I'm a burning heart in a place where no things real
Pouring rain all around me but I don't care
Have you got a hope for me to steal?
