Down By Law

Now this life is a wonderful thing
See the world, go a million miles
Faces come and go like the tide
On a summer day, or a lonely night
But everyone is telling you
What to do with your life
Just escape and breathe free
Daydream of a girl I used to know
So many memories have slipped away
Thinking a million thoughts an hour
Waiting for the waves to take me away
They say somewhere is a path that's marked out just for you
Well I hope someday our paths will cross
When I lie awake at night, I still see only you
