

The Ventriloquist

Dozer

So you gave your life long before your time, it had not yet begun

I need no hand in mine, and the season's passing by too fast for us

As long as I'll be free internally

As long as I will live forever long

So cold I'm watching you, and the waves take out your fear into the sun

I bleed from time to time, now the rain is pouring down on everyone