The Rise And Fall Of T.H.C. Tennis

Dr. Acula

Once you understand my state of mind All of you will be singing my lines We've conquered land and sky After being tossed on the highways side As mother mary gave grace at your feet We stood in courtside and watched your down fall You confused your love with lust Your affair with the devil was hard to shake off What you forgot is this was never just yours Aimed at the audience with passion and soul Your raft is sinking You will never hold the crown to this kingdom You efforts fall just short last nights misfortune I'll never forget the look the stun The second you knew you were undone what's goes bad must come down So I knocked off your fucking crown (3x)Just to recap we're not about mal intent We gave our lives to this traveling camp The smiling faces cross this country so wide Not a single one of them will tear when you die
