Keep A Friend

Even rich men ask for more, Well I ain't poor But I'm a beggar for your love And enough it ain't enough You can call me crazy You can call me anything you like

Even gluttons got to eat, Well I ain't weak But I hunger for your love And enough it ain't enough

Well I'd pawn my heart if I thought you'd break it Sell my soul if I thought you'd take it But every smile and conversation lets me know that you're only in it for love

I intend to keep a friend in love Please remember, I don't pretend in love

Even kings they ask for more, Well I ain't sure But I'm a pauper for your love And enough it ain't enough You can call me crazy You can call me anything you like

Even rivers ask for rain, Well I ain't sand But I'm a desert for your love And enough it ain't enough

Well I'd pawn my heart if I thought you'd break it Sell my soul if I thought you'd take it But every smile and conversation lets me know that you're only in it for love

I intend to keep a friend in love Please remember, I don't pretend in love

I intend to keep a friend in love Please remember, I don't pretend in love