The Battle of the Ivory Plains

All light has died out

Dragonland

Music: Magnusson Lyrics: Heidgert, Magnusson "After a journey that seemed endlessly long, they finally set f oot by the ivory plains...but the atmosphere around this place was horrific as they looked out ac ross the desolate landscape!!! Here a world's fate shall be decided. A camp was set up by brink of the plains, everyone rested and p olished their swords, singing hymns by the fire about ancient battles from every other hundre d yearbattle, fantastic stories of loss and gain. T'was not a good night's sleep they've had, awakened by battle horns in the far distance...they froze in fear!!! LET THE BATTLE BEGIN" Early morning with a scent of death in the air The first ray of light breaks free upon the hills We all gaze upon the distant plains To see a dark line filling the horizon The hordes will charge down on us like a thunder storm We will be heavily outnumbered Oh, bewildered horizon The ground will be drenched in red All nature dies out The horns sound for the battle to begin As bodies clash together and steel ploughs through flesh Salutations to the end with death we dance We fight for our lives like a whirlwind The elves with arrows that covers the sky With flails and axes the dwarfs shout their battlecries But it seems that we don't stand a chance Oh, bewildered horizon The ground now is drenched in blood All nature's died out Endless the battle seems [Solo: O.M, E.H, N.M] As my companions go down one by one I know that this must end before the day is gone With fear and rage we make our final assault But they are flanking us, crushing us and killing us Then i feel a pain and it's flashing before my eyes Everything turns black Oh, darkened horizon The sun will shine no more

We could not save dragonland this time...