

Wolves of the North

Dragonry

There is a howling in the distance
There is a crying in the cold
And in the falling darkness I can hear them call
The wind and the masters of all

The ancient blood will burn forever
We face the terrors of the night
We ride out tonight into shadow and fight
We witness the ravens take flight

And my eyes are clear
And my heart can see
That beyond my fears
Lies a future for you and for me

Howling in the nightfall
We hear the fight call
And for honour and duty ride forth
All for the glory of the Wolves of the North

For king and crown, and for our honour
The wolves are calling us to run
And on through the plains
Where the snow hides the sun
We feel now that winter has come

And my eyes are clear
And my heart can see
That beyond my fears
Lies a future for you and for me

Howling in the nightfall
We hear the fight call
And for honour and duty ride north

Far beyond the Great Wall
Beneath the snowfall
Now in shadow and darkness ride forth
Honour the glory of the Wolves of the North

Now my eyes are closed
But my heart can see
That beyond this wall
My destiny's waiting for me

Howling in the nightfall
We hear the fight call
And for honour and duty ride forth
All for the glory of the Wolves of the North

Far beyond the Great Wall
Beneath the snowfall
Now in shadow and darkness ride forth
Honour the glory of the Wolves of the North
