

Only Memories Remain

Dreamshade

And here we are: face to face, telling ourselves what our story has always been Looking in our eyes we can see our world drawn into dust, a quiet place where we used to go, when we used to be tied

Why should we look to the clock, and then discover that time consumes our lives?

We're here again where the sun hits the sea and the wind caresses the sand, we're taking an oath that we'll forever carry with us

You'll never be alone, and if you'll fall I'll fight for you
'Cause hearts like ours can never be broken

We have faced battles, we have shown the world the strength of our bond With honest loyalty we'll show the world what we are made of

The frozen time will preserve our souls, together
And when all the promises will be broken, when darkness and solitude will oppress you, I'll be the only one still standing honoring our blood pact

'Cause hearts like ours can never be broken
