

What Silence Hides

Dreamshade

Wasted hope,
all my wishes are falling down again, with the consciousness of a reality that deceives me Secret worlds hidden by ignorance that steals us from inside

From the loneliness of our souls we'll start to be the same thing, we'll start to be what we always wanted, and our wishes come true

It's the time,
it's the moment,
we can make all things better, we can save ourselves,
we can look for a better way, this is not the end

We're cruelty victims;
predestined not to be together, sentenced to live this life in sorrow

Listen to this silence, look me in the eyes
and you'll find my declaration, confided without lies

I remember "once upon a time", when our bodies were designing abstract shapes, drawing lines deep down in our minds I remember those times as the best ones of my whole life

Listen to this silence,
look me in the eyes
and you'll find my declaration,
confided without lies

Use your imagination, follow your heart,
then come to me and speak the words you've held apart

Time for me is ending, please don't turn around but start running away, don't wait for me.