Mirror

Time after time You close that door And say to me: "Can't stand no more" But every time When I'm away You call to me: "Please come and stay!"

You know it's hard to carry on If you don't love me anymore You say you need to lean on me but can i too, lean on...

You want it all To be young and free Have family, But can't you see: You can't decide What's right or wrong Don't think no more, It's time to go!

You talk me 'bout your self esteem How you think i've flushed it down the drain You know the mirror hanging at your wall? Take a good look in it and you'll find the real cause!