

As You Wish

Dropout Year

Have you noticed how I notice you,
The way the sky reflects off of your eyes,
A green-ish shade of blue,
I love you the way you are,
I love what I've seen so far,
The only thing I've grown to hate,
Is when you doubt the words I say,
Please don't change a thing about you.

There's no need to wear make up,
When you wake up it on where you are,
I swear I'll never let you get too far,
And I will wait up all night long,
I will stay up with you,
To say the words it takes to get you through.

And when it comes to friendship,
I have a small confession,
A common misconception,
So here's your lesson of the day,
I caught feelings for you,
While you caught my eye,
And now I find that the truth is just too hard to hide,
When all I want was in you all along.

There's no need to wear make up,
When you wake up it on where you are,
I swear I'll never let you get too far,
And I will wait up all night long,
I will stay up with you,
To say the words it takes to get you through.

All night long,
We'll keep this stereo on,
And we will play this song,
Until the break of dawn.

There's no need to wear make up,
When you wake up it on where you are,
I swear I'll never let you get too far,
And I will wait up all night long,
I will stay up with you,
To say the words it takes to get you through.

There's no need to wear make up,
When you wake up it on where you are,
I swear I'll never let you get too far,
And I will wait up all night long,
I will stay up with you,
To say the words it takes to get you through.

Now I stand,
An honest man,
Sent to death,
With my heart in your hands,
Now you stand with my heart in yours.
