

Bittersweet

Drowners

I don't want to hear from you again
Because it will only make things harder than they are
No unexpected midnight calls
Stop confusing me, we can't go on like this

I never knew that I could feel so primitive
I never thought that I would fall so easily
I never wanted to betray another loyalty

Save me from your bittersweet love
Just stay away
Don't make me fall in love with you again
'cause anything but bittersweet love
Would be o.k.
I never want a love like that again

Just when I was feeling better
You had to waltz right in and tear me down again
Please be gentle with this heart
Because it would never stand to be ripped apart again
