

Speed of light

Dub Pistols

The Dub Pistols control this ship Blade is the vocalist, this is the year of the apocalypse
Miles away and we can still see the metropolis
Disappearing slowly into the distance there's no
stopping this Cruising at a leisurely pace as we breeze past the stars
and travel through the Milky Way We glide through the air, trekking at the speed of light

We're on a trip to space where the average man 'aint been
The ground is flooded with rain to keep the Earth clean We communicate through radio waves While the controllers of the ship are seeing sights that amaze
Searching on corners of the Milky Way and galaxy You won't believe the types of things that we were forced to see
Wait for the sattelites, wet your appetites From the distance we see the sun and it's a ball of
light
You need a microscope to see the Earth even exists And it feels like we've been suspended in space for years
Nothing to do but think and wonder what we'll see when we land
Could this be the missing link in the bigger plan

The Dub Pistols control this ship
Blade is the vocalist, this is the year of the
apocalypse
Miles away and we can still see the metropolis
Disappearing slowly into the distance there's no
stopping this
Cruising at a leisurely pace as we breeze past the
stars
and travel through the Milky Way
We glide through the air, trekking at the speed of
light

Rhymes on tapes mics turn them into space flights Aerodynamics fly frantic with the Blade, right Pushing orbital in a low tech, cruising tight Pictures sneaking by from the glare of the computer lights
Should have bought a thinner window but spent it all on endo
From the dude at the last stop with three eyes in a flat top wanted for smuggling and illegal space craft Don't know if we'll ever make it back now we're off track being chased by patrols Pull it together, hands back on the controls Tailspins and barrel rolls out of narrow spaces

To the center of a meteor, they can no longer trace us

The Dub Pistols control this ship
Blade is the vocalist, this is the year of the
apocalypse
Miles away and we can still see the metropolis
Disappearing slowly into the distance there's no
stopping this
Cruising at a leisurely pace as we breeze past the
stars
and travel through the Milky Way
We glide through the air, trekking at the speed of
light

They educated us and even taught us how to breathe Gave us the diet of the food that we would have to eat Stick to the rations, never know what could happen Run out of fuel and you might never get back in (word up)

Three humans in the space of five meters squared Dressed in space suits attached to canisters of air Alien lifeforms could possibly be a threat
If that's the case push the button and eject
They could be hostile, worse than on the X-Files Don't try to talk to them, they don't talk back that 'aint their style
Dont' be a hero, this 'aint a move and you 'aint De Niro
Don't try to test them because if you do you'll be gone in zero

The Dub Pistols control this ship
Blade is the vocalist, this is the year of the
apocalypse
Miles away and we can still see the metropolis
Disappearing slowly into the distance there's no
stopping this
Cruising at a leisurely pace as we breeze past the
stars
and travel through the Milky Way
We glide through the air, trekking at the speed of
light