The Majority

Duff McKagan

You call me the mean man You point your finger at me Having problems with authority In every major city

And it's so easy for you The majority, the majority And there's no peace for you The majority

Your white housewives And your money-sucking friends Don't need you to be I'll be me to the end

And it's so easy for you The majority, the majority And there's no peace for you

You got to think about your children Fuck bureaucracy Take the weight off your shoulders We're not the public enemy Can't you see, can't you see

You call me the mean man I say you call me the mean man

And it's so easy for you, the majority, the majority And there's no peace for you

Your white housewives And your money-sucking friends Don't need you to be cause I'll be me to the end

Got to think about the children, think think about the children

You got to think about the Jištěngzwww.txp.cz
