

Everyone, Everywhere

Duncan Sheik

Faded longing, tired of wanting
Can't explain the fear that's haunting you
Should I go or I could be wrong
So wrong

Hear me calling from eagle mountain
One of millions of suns
Perfect nature, deepest wisdom
Lies within everyone, everyone
And everywhere the brilliant horizon

Some say sacred, some profane
There are no distinctions, then again yes
But I may be wrong, but it feels right
So right

Hear me calling from eagle mountain
One of millions of suns
Perfect nature, deepest wisdom
Lies within everyone, everyone
And everywhere the brilliant horizon
Everywhere lies within everyone