Nocturnal Crucifixion

Blinding my eyes, The light of indecency Exalted demise, morbid complexity Walking the path, demonic heredity Reaching the end, it opens before me Unvielding to the astral powers I foresee the unknown Eternally they are chanting Immortally they are spawning As I watch they stare at me A gaze of pure insanity Immersed in darkness so completely I find myself alone Drinking from Ancient Waters I become one with them Unholy shrouds Incantations shower me Unveiling the secrets to truth Why I must die Preach and prophecize Believers are taught that their Souls are forgiven Await the false rebirth Feeling the pain inside from out Reliving the past once again Lascivious lust, I want to believe Succumb to the horrid disease Stagnant and old the prophecy told Undying the books deceive Forgotten and spent, Rotting alone Forever to suffer and grieve
