

New World

Dying Passion

I'm screaming with passions,
I'm smiling over death,
I'm walking in outer ocean,
I'm walking in evening pool.
All is shinning around me.
I love everything around me.
The touch of the sunset and fresh air
Give me the shivers down my spine.
Ecstasy of the space I find in.

I'm following the star advice
The star of power and l i b e r t y.

Take the air, fly above and go with me.

I'm flying above the scenery of sorrow and pain and above the valley and woods above the craters to the clouds high above and their splendour as far as the sun above the s p a c e beyond the dike of an ether where the utmost of the days and star spheres end.