Words

Dying Passion

Late in the night I'm full of words. Eternal ones like time Heavy ones like a head Shining ones like a star.

Your words also came to me. Your words kept in silence. They're beautiful And they're whole. They've got me And I've got them They've got us all.

A window provided with bars, A word outside. Does it depend so much On what comes across our way? I'll try to break down the wall
