By Chance

Dynamite Boy

I found a new place to call home A place that's far from everyone No books, no rules, no mirrors to stare at me No time, no girls to make me feel like I'm a creep

I want to see if you By chance you know what I'm going through I want to see if you By chance you know what I'm going through

Now I want to be all alone Lock all the doors, disconnect the phone I sit in my mind's eye and watch the TV screen I'm tired but too damn scared to ever fall asleep

I want to see if you By chance you know what I'm going through I want to see if you By chance you know what I'm going through

I want to see if you By chance you know what I'm going through I want to see if you By chance you know what I'm going through
