

Utah

Dynamite Boy

As I watch from far away,
I realize you could never be,
The girl I will love someday,
Without a question haunting me.

You have nothing I would need,
You couldn't even start to care,
And the days we spend apart,
Would be the best ones we would share.

I would wonder was it your fault, was it mine?
You said you don't know what you were thinking half the time.
So lets us stop these problems before they start to
come,
And it will end this game before we hurt someone.

You won't ever love me,
So I won't ever love you.
Even though it hurts now,
We both know that it's true.
You won't ever love me,
So I won't ever love you,
I won't ever love you.

I tried to hide myself from pain,
Locked away in my stupid dreams,
Nothing lost and nothing gained,
At least thats the way it seems.

Tell me there was once a way,
We could have made a lovely pair,
But the way things will turn out,
I'll be the only one who cares.

I would wonder was it your fault, was it mine?
You said you don't know what you were thinking half the
time.
So lets us stop these problems before they start to
come,
And it will end this game before we hurt someone.

You won't ever love me,
So I won't ever love you.
Even though it hurts now,
We both know that it's true.
You won't ever love me,
So I won't ever love you,
I won't ever love you.

Lets Go!

I would wonder was it your fault, was it mine?
You said you don't know what you were thinking half the
time.
So lets us stop these problems before they start to
come,

And it will end this game before we hurt someone.

You won't ever love me,
I won't ever love you.
Even though it hurts now,
We both know that it's true.
You won't ever love me,
So I won't ever,
You won't ever love me,
So I won't ever-
You won't ever love me,
So I won't ever love you.
I won't ever love you.
I won't ever love you.
I won't ever love you.
I won't ever love you.