

(Verse)

Our days have just begun, have we reached the end?
We destroyed the legacy that we tried so hard to depend
The flame that's burning low, in time it dissipates
Everything will be undone, the fire will light again(?)

The final curtain fall, the hour is at hand
We stand in front of the lights dropped from the other side
The sent of victory invest into our minds
The light from a (???) is shone upon mankind
Our towers is said that are fallin', the dawn of a new world is callin'
The chain of hatred is offered, our will is indited

(Chorus)

Carnation, creation, behold our transformation!
The final step towards another life, real congregation
Ascension, redemption, and (???) of information
We are all related, as our souls are incarnated

(Verse)

We travelled for so long, but our journey's just begun
One slipfold at a time, and our will shall be done
The holy remedy, these eyes within our hearts
We rise and quickly we fall, but we never fall apart

(Pre-Chorus)

Our towers instone are rising, new dreams we are realizing
The tarded future resides in the fires and our destiny

(Chorus)

Carnation, creation, behold our transformation!
The final step towards another life, real congregation
Ascension, redemption, and (???) of information
We are all related, as our souls are incarnated