

Never More

Dyslesia

I remember in my earlier days
Two boys were playing heros
Brother in the same world
Walking together on it

The storm was coming
Still facing the road
So close in our souls
The hands of dread have gripped my head
They're taking you away
They're taking you away

What has happened, I want to know the truth
I am kneeling down, I am kneeling down

Now you've gone forever
Your eyes are closed for one and all
The sound of your voice is the only memory I have
The sound of your voice is the only memory I have

My earlier days are far away
The heroes are left now
But the feeling of dread is always there
I didn't want you to leave me

The storm was coming
Still facing the road
So close in our souls
The hands of dread have gripped my head
They're taking you away
They're taking you away

What has happened, I want to know the truth
I am kneeling down, I am kneeling down

To proud to see the end
I am sitting in the dark
I feel the tears
I feel the emptiness

No images no memories
The hero has left now
I'm still here but
Never more together we will walk

The storm was coming
Still facing the road
So close in our souls
The hands of dread have gripped my head
They're taking you away
They're taking you away
