That was the day when I first saw the light I know that I should have put up for a fight Not since the day have I looked in the eyes Where you could see the Arabian skies

How can it be that the desert provide Something so precious you'd think that I lied Wherever you are I remember you still Il el el el bitti akill

I saw the Arabian star
Brightest of them all
I wish that we could do it all again
I saw the Arabian star
Still I wonder where you are

Been on this journey for so many years Thought that I'd seen it all, faced all my fears Nothing prepared me for what I've been throught All is compared with memories of you

How can it be that the desert provide Something so special you'd think that I lied Wherever you are I remember the thrill Il el el el bitti akill

I saw the Arabian star
Brightest of them all
I wish that we could do it all again
I saw the Arabian star
Still I wonder where you are
