

Your Love's On The Line

Earl Thomas Conley

You've never cheated, you've never lied
You've never had feelin's that you've had to hide
For she's got you thinkin' of somethin'
So different tonight

It's too late to worry what's right or what's wrong
And you're a little too crazy to leave it alone
When you're lookin' at somethin'
That is too good to push it aside

Boy, she's got your head in the clouds
And your heart in a bind
So how come you're feelin' so proud
When your love's on the line?

You still think your first love's the best in your life
When you know you should hurry, but you can't say goodbye
And you know you can't go back
And feel like you're where you belong

Now the sweet taste of freedom is hard to control
When the touch of a woman's so tender to hold
She won't even let you remember
How long you've been gone

Boy, you've got your head in the clouds
And your heart in a bind
So how come you're feelin' so proud
When your love's on the line?

Yeah you've got your head in the clouds
And your heart in a bind
So how come you're feelin' so proud
When your love's on the line?
