

Goodbye

EarlyRise

You stood by me through the hardest times You gave me everything, you were my solid ground You picked me up when I was down And you were there when there was no one else around

No, I'm not turning my back on you There's something I've got to do I'm torn between these two worlds And I don't ever want to have to choose

Hi, goodbye again It's time for me to go I'll miss you, I promise to try Not to be gone for long

Been chasing time, to make it last And now another year has gone so fast Gone back and forth for way too long And I know I need to decide where I belong

Everywhere I go I think of you And how I've broken your heart in two Please don't give up on me just yet I know we'll find a way to make it through

Hi, goodbye again It's time for me to go I'll miss you, I promise to try Not to be gone for long

I've been trying to explain to you That it's not your fault I still feel so close to you Despite the distance
