

This World

Earshot

I never cared much for this world (I just want to be someone like you) but I never said I wouldn't reach deep down to blow them all away

I can feel it but I don't know where my life's supposed to go I can see it but I'm covered by the fear of the unknown I could hear it but my head's too sick to listen on my own wanna do it my way

I never had much of my own (I just wanna feel the sun like you) but I never said I wouldn't spread these wings to rise and fly away

Will I be here for you?
of course I will just remember when you're by yourself...
I've faced trying times, and I've seen pain I've been through many different walks of life and just because I haven't seen them all doesn't really matter cuz I'm floating