

We Fall, We Stand

Earshot

Sometimes I feel like I'm losing it all abused and beat down and thrown to the wall how can they do this to someone at all? something so awful woke up this morning I hoped and I prayed nothing can stop me I'm well on my way if I can have anything that I want why does this happen?

We gain, we lose, we fall and we stand right up again we gain, we lose and we fall
and we stand right up again I can be anything I want to be losing myself in a world that can't be coming together and falling apart we stand....we fall....

I can see clearly the crack in your soul looking for something to patch up the hole if you need someone to reach for, console, just call my name... you have been searching for so long inside a meaningful calling your heart can't deny I try so hard just to stand on my own how can this happen? (again)

I can finally see the light no more darkness
I feel so much more alive